Market Update February 3, 2014

The market has been quite challenging so far in 2014. However, we feel that the fundamentals of the economic recovery for the U.S. remain intact. We are still expecting GDP to come in slightly below 3% for 2014 and year-over-year earnings growth for the S&P 500 to come in above 10%. The chart above illustrates both the move up throughout 2013 and also the magnitude of the current correction relative to last year's move. After a year in which there was an historic lack of volatility, we anticipated more volatility in 2014, and our plan has been to cycle into good names selectively as volatility rears its ugly head periodically throughout the year. We are watching our technical indicators closely and will be looking for bottoming action in the market and acting accordingly. As usual, we will keep you posted, but please call us if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Todd & Steve
